ALLEGHENY CITY REPUBLICAN TICKET.

For Mayor—SIMON DRUM.
For Poor Director—WM. MURDOCH.

IN framing the Railroad Committee of the State Senate, Mr. Graham, Speaker, has exercised unusual good care and caution, selecting only such men as he knew, beyond doubt, to be friendly to Free Railroad interests. The displacement of Mr. Landon is a move in the right direction, as that gentleman was openly hostile to the Connellsville Railroad interests, and was closely identified with those of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

TO DAY the election for Mayor and ward officers of our sister city, Allegheny, will take place. We publish at the head of this column the regular Republican nominees for the principal offices. We hope the Republicans will turn out a full force and secure the election of the nominees of their party by a large vote, as all the candidates presented for their suffrages are eminently worthy support.

EX-GOV. CURTIN will decline the nomination tendered him for Vice-President of the United States, by the recent National Convention of the Boys in Blue, held in Philadelphia.

GENERAL NEWS

—The town of Sardis, Miss., was nearly destroyed by fire on Sunday, supposed to be the work of an incendiary; loss $80,000, insured for $26,000 in the Desota, Peoples' and Hernanda Companies of Memphis.

—During the late bathing season a pompous individual walked up to the office of a sea-side hotel, and with a considerable flourish signed the book, and in a loud voice exclaimed: "I'm Lieutenant Governor of——." "That dosen't make any difference," says the landlord, "you'll be treated just as well as the others."

—Boston, having annexed Roxbury, which had a population of 25,000, is now anxious to add the town of Dorchester, which has 10,000. This town lies south of Boston, and its population consists chiefly of persons who do business in the city. It is beautifully diversified with hill and valley, and is singularly well adapted to sustain a large population.

—In a book called "Notes on the Folk-Lore of the Northern Counties of England and the Borders," by William Henderson, it is stated that in the remote parts of Yorkshire it is the custom to pour a bottle full of boiling water over the door-step just after the bride has left her house; and they say that before it dries up another marriage is sure to be agreed upon.

—At the Knox College, at Galesburg, Illinois, there is, in the junior class, not an American citizen of African descent, but a genuine African of wildbush descent, who was brought from the Gaboon coast a few years ago, and who, with respectable standing in mathematics, leads in language and general culture, and has no social inequality to complain of in the treatment he receives from the families in the city.

—In reading of the destruction of ants in tropical countries, we are often tempted to question their utility and object. A recent traveller, however, informs us that, without their agency, the entire region would soon become uninhabitable by being choked up with vegetable growths; but that by the incessant activity of countless hordes all decaying matter—vegetable and animal—is speedily removed from off the face of the earth, to the great benefit of its inhabitants.

—An outbreak in Alaska is the latest intelligence reported from that interesting section of our widely extended country. It appears from dispatches from Alaska to December 8th, that the Indians in the neighborhood of Sitka had been insubordinate, and raised the English flag over their village. General Davis ordered them to take it down or he would bombard the village, and it was taken down; but the Indians are discontented, and an outbreak is imminent.

—A schoolboy down East, who was noted among his playfellows for his frolics among the girls, was reading in the old testament, when coming to the old phrase, "making waste places glad," he was asked what it meant. The youngster paused, scratched his head, but gave no answer, when up jumped a more precocious urchin, and cried out: "I know what it means, master. It means huggin' the gals, for Tom Ross is always huggin' 'em round the waist, and it makes 'em as glad as can be."

—The Magnolia (Arkansas) Vindicator records how a man, named Clower, rode into that town one night after dark, and seeing a group of negroes on the public square, ordered them to scatter. He drew his pistol and began firing indiscriminately among them. Two were wounded, one severely in the hip, the other slightly in the arm. Another had a hole shot in his hat. Clower then rode out of town, swearing vengeance against any and every one who might pursue or attempt to arrest him.

—An English paper states that Mr. Stephen Britt, for many years Harbormaster of Port Rye, was drowned recently by the upsetting of a boat in that harbor. He was the last survivor of a family of six sons, every one of whom had died by drowning—three at sea, one in Rotterdam harbor, and one, eight years old, in a well. This strange fatality so powerfully impressed the mind of the last remaining, Stephen, that he abandoned going to sea, and relinquished even the command of the harbor steam tug, which he latterly had charge of.

—Paris has within its fortifications, for the accommodation of 1,825,274 inhabitants, 10,318 public vehicles, of which 678 are ordinary omnibuses, in connection with the railway trains, and 230 omnibuses running some little distance in the environs. The number of cabs is 7500, and of hacks no less than 2000. Then there are 800 huge excursion omnibuses. During the past fourteen years the number of public vehicles in Paris has almost doubled. This arises not alone from the increase of population, but from the extension of the limits of the city beyond the barriers to the line of fortifications.

—The number of boys in the Massachusetts Nautical School at the date of the last report was two hundred and eighty-five; in the ship George M. Barnard one hundred and forty-five, and in the ship Massachusetts one hundred and forty-two. There have been two deaths during the last year, both on board the Massachusetts; one from consumption, the other from accident, a fall from a yard. From the Massachusetts during the year one hundred and twenty boys have been discharged, and from the George M. Barnard one hundred and nineteen. From the former seventy-five boys have been shipped on whaling and other ships.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The President and the New Reconstruction Bill.

The Austrian Mission.

Stanton Suspension Not Sustained.

Reduction of Army Officers.

Gens. Hancock and Rosseau.

Bill to Muster Them Out of the Army.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, January 13, 1868.

THE PRESIDENT AND THE NEW RECONSTRUCTION BILL.

The National Intelligencer has a very lengthy editorial this morning, supposed to reflect the President's views regarding the new reconstruction bill. It declares that the measure could not become, except in naked form, an act of Congress. It denounces bitterly what it styles an attempt to abolish the National Executive, placing the President virtually under the control of Gen. Grant, while the latter has no will but what is directly or indirectly that of his superior and commander, the highest of all centers, in himself having all power and authority over all officers and soldiers of an army. It points out what would be the result under the fifth section of the bill should Gen. Grant refuse to or even go farther than the law permits, and says that in case of a difference between the General and Congress, each acting from a sense of duty, there would be no power on earth to decide, and it would become the duty of each party to coerce the other to submission. After reviewing the sections, which it claims abolishes both the judicial power of the Government and the Executive Department, the article closes in the following remarkable language: "It can come to nothing without the co-operation of the General of the army. It all rests on him. Whatever his reticence, this is a matter in which reticence might be misunderstood. At the first overt act, however slight, were it but to orally promise to accept the functions offered in it after such bill had been repassed over the veto, the General of our Army must be cast into jail to await his trial for treason to his country, unless the Chief Magistrate of this country is false to the trust of the people and to his oath of office."

THE STANTON SUSPENSION.

The Senate was in executive session more than five hours to-day, debating the resolution reported from the Committee on Military Affairs, namely, that the Senate having considered the evidence and reasons given by the President in his message of the 20th of December last, for the suspension from office of the Secretary of War, Edwin M. Stanton, do not concur in such suspension. The vote was taken at seven o'clock this evening, and the resolution passed by a vote of 35 yeas, 6 nays.

BUSINESS OF EXECUTIVE SESSION.

The Senate removed the injunction of secrecy from the majority and minority reports of the Committee of Military Affairs. The Senate also ordered that a certified copy of the resolution be transmitted to the President, Gen. Grant and Edwin M. Stanton.

It is understood the report of the sub-committee will conclude with a resolution calling on the Secretary of War to remove General Dyer, the present Chief of the Ordnance Department.

REPORT DENIED.

The Comptroller of Currency denies the truth of a report that he decided to authorize an eastern bank to exchange five-twenty bonds now on deposit as security for circulating notes for ten-forty bonds at eighty-seven and one-half cents. He will not authorize such change until ten-forties reach par value with indications of remaining there permanently.

TREATMENT OF PRISONERS.

The House having to-day revived the Select Committee on Treatment of Prisoners of War and Union citizens by rebel authorities, of which General Shanks is Chairman, it will forthwith recommence its labors.

The object of the bill is to dispense with Maj. Gen. Hancock and Brig. Gen. Rousseau.

The Senate Bill Passed

Bill to Relieve Gen. Hancock of His Commission.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13, 1868.

SENATE.

CONCERNING IMPEACHMENT.

Mr. EDMUNDS offered a resolution, which was agreed to, that the Committee on Judiciary be instructed to inquire into the expediency of providing by law or a rule of the Senate, or both rules and regulations for procedure in the trial or impeachment and suspension of an officer under impeachment pending trial, if in the judgment of the Senate the public safety shall require it, and for the prompt enforcement of orders and judgments of the Senate in such cases.

ARMY AND NAVY REDUCTION.

Mr. WILSON introduced a bill to provide for the gradual reduction of the army of the United States. Referred to Committee on Military Affairs.

Mr. GRIMES introduced a bill which limits the number of men authorized to be enlisted in the Navy to 8,500. All acts authorizing enlistment in the Marine Corps of a greater number of officers and men than that fixed by the act of July 25th, 1861, are repealed, as is also the act creating the office of Solicitor and Naval Judge Advocate. Referred to Committee on Naval Affairs.

FROM MILITARY COMMITTEE.

Mr. WILSON reported back from the Committee on Military Affairs, without amendment, the act declaring no officer cashiered or dismissed from the army by senteence of Court Martial shall be restored to military service without confirmation by the Senate.

Also, a bill authorizing the sale of the Harper's Ferry property, which devotes the proceeds, first, to defraying the expenses of the sale; second, to refunding the United States the original purchase money, and the surplus to the State of West Virginia for the use of a school fund; with an amendment providing that the Secretary of War shall have power to convey by deed all portions of said property which have heretofore been set apart for religious, charitable, educational and town purposes.

Also, a bill directing the Secretary of War to settle claims of the State of Kansas for Military service under General Curtiss, with recommendations to refer to Committee on Claims.

On motion of Mr. POMEROY, the bill was referred back to the Committee on Military Affairs.

COURT PROCESSES.

Mr. HOWARD introduced a bill regulating the service of final process in suits at law and of orders and decrees in equity of Courts of the United States in places out of their judicial limits. Referred to Committee on Judicary.

CONSTITUTIONAL TRIBUNAL.

On motion of Mr. DAVIS, his resolution that the Constitution be amended so as to create a tribunal of one member of each State to decide the constitutional question of jurisdiction arising between them and the United States. Informally laid aside.

THE CHINA MINISTER.

Mr. CONNESS offered a resolution inquiring whether Anson Burlingame has been appointed by the Emperor of China to any diplomatic mission. He desired definite information, in order to predicate future action. The resolution was adopted.

SENATOR HOWARD'S REPORT IN THE STAUNTON CASE.

Mr. HOWE presented a memorial from the manager of the Evening Press Association, in relation to the remarks of Senator Howard, recently, on the subject of the publication of a condensed report in the Stanton matter, asking that the matter be referred to the same Committee for investigation, claiming that he can fully vindicate himself from the grave charges referred to, and declaring that as many as a dozen persons had access to the document, and that the publication of it was not unauthorized.

Mr. HOWARD declared the assertion that the publication was not authorized was entirely incorrect, and known by the individual to be so.

The memorial was referred to the Committee on Printing.

SURPLUS APPROPRIATIONS.

Mr. SHERMAN offered a resolution directing the Secretary of the Treasury to report to the Senate what appropriations may, without injury, be carried to the surplus fund, including such as may be properly postponed to a future period. Adopted.

SUBJECT RETURNED.

Mr. DAVIS' resolution, above referred to, was taken up, and he took the floor arguing that the tribunal proposed was necessary under the present mixed system, quoting from framers of the Constitution, until the morning hour expired, when the President announced as the special order the bill to prevent further contraction of the currency.

Mr. HOWARD moved Executive Session, which prevailed, after opposition by Messrs. SHERMAN and NEWTON, by a vote of twenty-three to nineteen, and the Senate went into Executive Session.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

CALL BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED.

By Mr. ELLIOTT: To continue the Bureau of Freedmen and Refugees.

By Mr. WOOD: Joint resolution to limit time and circumstances relating to the actions of United States with reference to the recognition of belligerent rights of hostile nations.

It recites that an indefinite state of war between two or more belligerent States, which do not by hostile military act or operations manifest the fact of being in the condition of actual war, is contrary to the principles of international law, opposed to the progress and present civil action of the world, and causes grave and irreparable injury to industry, commerce and navigation, of neutral nations especially, when the interests of the latter are intimately connected with one or both belligerents, and it therefore declares that the United States will consider a state of war terminated between two or more belligerents whenever a period of twelve months has elapsed from the date of the last act of war without a renewal of hostilities, and that in every such case the Government of the United States will resume the relations of peace with all such nations as shall be found in such state of imperfect war.

By Mr. BLANE: In reference to taxing shares of National Banks.

By Mr. MILLER: Requiring the concurrence of two-thirds of the Judges of the Supreme Court of the United States to declare a law of Congress unconstitutional. Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Also, for the passage of a tariff law affording adequate protection to the industrial interests of the country. Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Mr. HUNTER: For funding the National debt and for other purposes. Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Mr. BOUTWELL: To promote agricultural industry in States recently in rebellion, and secure homesteads for freedmen. Referred to Committee on Freedmen's affairs.

The first section declares the title of all abandoned lands in States recently in rebellion to be in the United States, and forbids the President or any other officer of the Government from surrendering it or ordering any act to impair or affect the title of the United States. The second section authorizes the Commissioners of Freedmens' Bureau to contract for the sale to Freedmen of such abandoned lands, in lots not exceeding ten acres, to one person at a fair market valuation, on three years' credit. The third section authorizes the same Commissioners to deliver to farmers and planters articles of subsistence and advance them money on certain defined conditions.

By Mr. CULLOM: For the payment of bounties to soldiers in the late war, discharged from the service on account of disability.

By Mr. BURR: Pledging protection to all citizens, native born or naturalized, in the enjoyment of all the rights of citizenship under the Constitution and laws of the United States. Referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

By Mr. BINGHAM: Declaring the amendment to the Constitution of the United States, known as the fourteenth article, duly ratified. Referred to Judiciary.

REVIVING A SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

Mr. PAINE, on behalf of the Special Committee of last session on the treatment of prisoners of war and Union citizens, offered a resolution that the Committee be continued, with full powers under the resolutions of July 10th and July 13th, '67.

Mr. WASHBURNE, of Illinois, desired to offer an amendment, providing that the Committee shall incur no farther expense, but

Mr. PAINE moved, and the House seconded, the previous question, cutting off all amendments.

Mr. WASHBURNE moved to lay the resolution on the table—negatived, yeas, fifty-two; nays ninety-seven. The resolution was then adopted.

NEW RECONSTRUCTION BILL.

Mr. BINGHAM offered a resolution that the rules be suspended and the Committee on Reconstruction authorized to report immediately, and also that the House will to-morrow proceed to the consideration of the report, and at the close of the debate on Wednesday proceed to vote on the same.

The question on suspending the rules resulted: yeas, one hundred and sixteen; nays, forty-four—and the resolution was agreed to.

Mr. BINGHAM thereupon reported a bill additional and supplementary to the act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, and acts supplementary thereto, and it was read twice and recommitted.

Mr. BINGHAM, at the same time, informed the House he did not insist on the last clause of the resolution, but would let the debate continue on Wednesday and next day, if the House desired. He merely wished to have it made the special order from day to day until disposed of.

The SPEAKER notified the House that by the terms of the resolution, as adopted under the suspension of the rules, no dilatory motion could be received after the debate should close and the House should order the main question.

Mr. ELDRIDGE suggested that, therefore, the effect of the resolution was not only to enslave the Executive and Supreme Court, but the Congress also.

Mr. BINGHAM, in reply to a question by Mr. Brooks, declared it was his intention to allow a reasonable time for debate.

Mr. LOAN submitted an amendment which was ordered to be printed.

The bill, as reported, differs in the first section from the bill as printed in the newspapers, it reads:

Be it enacted, &c., that in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Florida and Arkansas, there are no civil governments, Republican in form, and that the so called civil governments in said States respectively shall not be recognized as valid nor legal State governments either by the executive or judicial power or authority of the United States.

Mr. WILSON, of Iowa, rose to make a report from the Judiciary Committee.

Mr. ROBINSON, rising to a parliamentary question, asked the Speaker whether the adoption of the resolution altered the rules without notice to that effect?

The SPEAKER said it suspended all rules that stood in the way of its existence.

Mr. ROBINSON inquired whether all rules of debate were suspended?

The SPEAKER replied they were not. Only such rules as stood in the way of carrying out the order of the House. The same question had been decided last Congress in an appeal from the decision of the Chair, by a vote of 151 to 4.

Mr. ROBINSON appealed from the decision, but the Speaker declined to entertain the appeal, and stated the gentleman from Iowa (Mr. Wilson) was entitled to the floor, and that as the bill was not now before the House this was not the appropriate time for appeals.

SUPREME COURT QUORUM.

Mr. WILSON, of Iowa, asked leave to report back from the Judiciary Committee, with an amendment by way of an additional section, the Senate bill declaring what shall constitute a quorum of the Supreme Court.

Mr. ROSS objected.

Mr. WILSON moved to suspend the rules stating he did not propose to call up the bill for a week, or until the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. Williams), who had first introduced the subject in the House, was present.

The House refused to suspend the rules—yeas 72, nays 88.

Mr. WILSON said he interpreted the vote as an expression of the will of the House to have the bill acted upon immediately. He would, therefore, modify his motion and move to suspend the rules to allow him to report back the bill for immediate consideration, and that when the House shall order the main question a vote shall be taken without dilatory motions.

The question resulted—yeas one hundred and thirteen, nays thirty-seven.

So the rules were suspended and Mr. WILSON reported back the Senate bill with an amendment.

The bill declares that any number of the Justice of the Supreme Court, not less then five being a majority thereof, shall constitute a quorum. The amendment declares that no case pending before the Supreme Court, involving the action or effect of any law of the United States, shall be decided adversely to the validity of such law without the concurrence of two-thirds of all the members of the Court.

Mr. WILLIAMS, of Pa., offered an amendment, requiring a decision of the Court in such cases to be unanimous. He explained and advocated his amendment.

Mr. MAYNARD suggested to Mr. Williams that he modify his amendment so as to require a majority of only three-fourths.

Mr. WILLIAMS declined. He thought it was not exacting a great deal to require the unanimity of the Court in reversing a decision of Congress, which should be the highest Court of the nation, and in which there were over a hundred and sixty lawyers.

Mr. LAWRENCE, of Ohio, suggested an amendment in conformity with the second section of the act of February 5th, 1867.

Mr. WILLIAMS delined to accept the amendment, and intimated that the bill was imperfect, should not be acted on hastily, and should be recommitted to the Judiciary Committee. Where there was a dissent on the bench, it would be found in nine cases out of ten that the opinion of the dissenting judge was the more reliable one.

Mr. PRUYN declared that on his return to the House, after a few weeks absence, it actually seemed to him to-day as if the country was in the midst of a revolution. The House had before it to-day a proposition of the most extraordinary character. It was proposed by one act to strip ten States of the little authority left, to deprive the Executive of his power, and now it was proposed by this act virtually to rob the Supreme Court of the United States of that which had given it power, influence, dignity and strength. Before the country and world this action was admittedly proposed in view of the fact that the Supreme Court might possibly make a decision which would come in conflict with the views of a majority of Congress. This daring avowal would strike the country with surprise.

Mr. MARSHALL declared that of all the revolutionary measures brought before the last or present Congress tending to subvert and destroy the institutions of the country, this was one of the very gravest. It was not only striking a blow at, but subverting one of the co-ordinate branches of the Government. It had been a theory of the Government that it was one of the checks and balances, and that there was no arbitrary power that could put its foot upon the people and upon other co-ordinate branches of the Government. If Congress was absolute, if it could override the will of the people, override the will of the Executive, and the deliberate judgment of the Supreme Court of the United States, then would be established a despotism, not of one man, but an oligarchy, or a mob, elected by the people, but usurping powers never given it by the Consitution or people. It was an assertion of an absolutism which the people would repudiate, unless they were willing to be despoiled of their liberties, and to have the institutions of their fathers trampled under foot. A more enormous proposition had never been brought before any deliberative body. The very bringing forward of such a measure was a plea of guilty on the part of the majority in Congress and a confession that its acts were unconstitutional. Therefore, they were unwilling to have them brought before the great judicial tribunal of the country. There was no power under the Federal Constitution to pass such a law. It was a most palpable and manifest usurpation, and it was not safe for any party to come forward to trample into the dust that great tribunal which had established such a reputation under the lead of the great men who had presided in that body.

Mr. BINGHAM wanted to know whether the gentleman from Illinois was not aware that the bill reported from the Judiciary Committee proposed no more than was required by the original judiciary act of 1789, under the administration of Washington?

Mr. MARSHALL was not aware of the fact and desired Mr. Bingham to read the section of the law that he referred to.

Mr. BINGHAM read from the judiciary act of 1789 the section declaring that the Supreme Court of the United States shall consist of a Chief Justice and five Associate Justices, four of whom shall constitute a quorum. He argued that when all the members were present it would require four to concur in a decision, which would be two-thirds.

Mr. MARSHALL declared he had great respect for the abilities of the distinguished gentleman from Ohio, but the claim that he had now put forward was one of the most shameful dodges ever attempted to be imposed on the House. He was astonished that that gentleman should attempt to palm off the idea that there was any analogy between the act of 1789 and the measure before the House. He reminded members that the people differed very much with them as to the wisdom of Congress. The difference of opinion seemed to be the same as that between the inmates of an insane asylum and the outside world. The inmate of such an asylum was once asked by a visitor how he happened to be there, and the answer was, "My dear sir, it is a mere matter of difference of opinion; I thought all the rest of the people of the world were crazy and they thought I was crazy, and as they were in the majority they got me here." (Laughter.) The illustration was, the opposite gentlemen in Congress might think they had the concentrated wisdom of the nation, and that all the rest of the people, including the judges of the Supreme Court, were fools in comparison with themselves; but the majority was on the outside, and he thought that majority would be of the opinion that in presenting this question there was little wisdom within the walls of the Capitol.

Mr. SPALDING supported the bill as reported from the Judiciary Committee. He objected to the amendment proposed by Mr. Williams as too universal, but claimed that Congress had the Constitutional right to provide by law what number of Judges it should take to pronounce a judgment on any act of Congress.

Mr. WILSON, of Iowa, moved to add to the amendment reported from the Committee, a proviso that if any Circuit or District Court of the United States should adjudge any act of Congress to be unconstitutional or invalid, the judgment, before any further proceedings be had upon it, shall be certified up to the Supreme Court of the United States and shall be considered therein, and if in the consideration thereof two-thirds of all the members of the Supreme Court shall not affirm the judgment below the same shall be declared and held reversed.

Mr. BINGHAM said he would have preferred the discussion to have been carried on in a spirit different from the partizan spirit exhibited by the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. Marshall). That gentleman should not have assumed in advance for himself and the party he represented that they were the only guardians of the Constitution and the people's rights, nor did he recognize the title by which that gentleman assumed to pronounce judgment upon the majority in Congress. In the name of all the people in the United States he would tell that gentleman once for all that the people spoke for themselves, and by themselves, and that from their judgment there lay no appeal either to Congress or to the Court. He would take leave further to remind him, when he undertook to lecture the majority in the House about the sanctity of the Supreme Court, that it was never challenged by the American people until it dared to descend from its high place in the discussion and decision of purely judicial questions to the settlement of questions political, with which it had no more right to deal than had the Court of St. Petersburg. The gentleman seemed to assume that there were tribunals in the country superior to the people who created them. Did he in the high noon of the nineteenth century dare to assert that the servant was greater than his lord? He would tell the gentleman there was a tribunal before which the Supreme Court was compelled to answer and had been compelled to answer in the years of grace 1856-57 and '58. It would be a sad day for American institutions and for the sacred cause of republican government, if any tribunal in this land, created by the will of the people, was above and superior to the people. That Court, he repeated, had disgraced not only itself as a tribunal of justice, but had disgraced humanity, when it dared to mouth from its high seat of justice the horrible blasphemy that there were human beings in this land or any land whose rights white men were not bound to respect.

Mr. MARSHALL reminded the gentleman that the Supreme Court had never said such a thing.

Mr. PRUYN desired also to make a remark in that connection.

Mr. BINGHAM, not yielding the floor, said he understood very well the point which the gentleman would make. He did not say the Court held that doctrine. He only said it mouthed that terrible blasphemy. He knew it was no decision.

Mr. ROBINSON, rising to a question of order, made the point that it was not in order for the gentleman from Ohio to make such charges against a co-ordinate branch of the Government.

The SPEAKER over ruled the point of order, holding he could not declare out of order an attack on another department of the Government when made in parliamentary language.

Mr. ROBINSON made the further point of order, that the gentlemen standing around Mr. Bingham should be made to take their seats.

The SPEAKER sustained that point and requested the gentlemen to resume their seats.

Mr. BINGHAM went on to say that from the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States an appeal had been taken to the public opinion of the country. The people had moved as one man from the farthest East to the farthest West, and the people had pronounced its condemnation on that atrocious judicial decision. That decree was irreparable, and the rights of all men were hereafter to be respected. It would not do for any man whoever read the Constitution of his country to rise in his place here and say that the Congress of the United States could not reduce that tribunal to a single person, or to three persons. If the number of Judges was fixed at three, of whom two would be a majority, would it not require those two to concur in any decision? What objection was there to this law? The gentleman from Illinois would have to find some other objection than his ad capatandum statement that it was a violation of the Constitution. When he had called that gentleman's attention to the fact that in the first Congress the Judiciary law of 1789 was passed, under which no judgment could be pronounced upon any question whatever without the concurrence of two-thirds, that gentleman had ventured to say it was a dodge. He (Mr. Bingham) did not intend it as a dodge. He intended it to be understood, in saying what he did say, that Washington and his associates had passed a law declaring that no judgment of the Supreme Court could be pronounced without the assent of two-thirds of its members.

Mr. MARSHALL inquired whether the Court had not been so organized that it required some number of judges to declare a law valid?

Mr. BINGHAM admitted it did.

Mr. MARSHALL held therefore there was no analogy between the two cases.

Mr. BINGHAM went on to contend there was, and that he had a very strong reason for the passage of this act. He would not stop to ask attention to the terrible consequences which followed in the train of that lawless announcement to which he had previously referred. But he desired this bill passed in view of the questions that were pressing on the country. Every moment there were gentlemen of high social and political influence in the country, who held that the very fundamental law itself could not be changed by the people without the consent of the rebel States. This showed the importance attached to the present issues, and he, for one, trusted the issue would be made speedily. He was ready to take it to the country, fight the battle on it at the polls, and to await the result. The proclamation of the gentleman from Illinois had no terrors for him. That gentleman was no more a prophet of God and the people than any other man of his stature. [Laughter.] The people alone could decide this question, and to the people he would appeal.

Mr. WILSON, of Iowa, moved the previous question, stating that he would not do so, except for the order of the House making a special order to morrow of the bill reported from the Reconstruction Committee.

The previous question was seconded, and the main question ordered.

Mr. WILSON, who was entitled to an hour to close the debate, yielded twenty minutes of his time to Mr. WOODWARD, who opposed the bill and the one from the Reconstruction Committee as unconstitutional.

Mr. HUBBARD, Connecticut, having had five minutes time allowed by Mr. Wilson, opposed the bill, declaring it a usurpation on the part of Congress.

Mr. WILSON closed the debate in favor of the bill.

Mr. WILLIAMS' amendment was rejected. Yeas twenty-five, nays one hundred and twenty-four.

Mr. WILSON'S amendment was adopted—yeas, one hundred and eleven, nays thirty-eight, and the bill passed, one hundred and sixteen against thirty-nine.

Mr. WILSON moved to amend the title by adding the words "Requiring a concurrence of two-thirds of the members of the Court to declare a law of the United States invalid."

Mr. WILLIAMS, of Pa., suggested instead to make the amendment read, "and to regulate the jurisdiction thereof."

Mr. WILSON accepted the suggestion and the title was so amended.

Mr. GARFIELD moved to suspend to rules that he might introduce a bill to reduce and improve the military establishment by the discharge of one Major General, and the one who was last commissioned in that grade before the 1st of January, 1868—General Hancock.

After a very decided indication on the part of Messrs. Brooks, Randall and others, that a resort to filibustering would be had to prevent the bill passing, Mr. GARFIELD withdrew the motion, giving notice that he would renew it next Monday, and then, it being half past six, the House adjourned.

FENIAN MATTERS.

LONDON, January 13.—The Warwick jail, where the Fenian prisoners Burke, Casey, Shaw and Mullaney are awaiting trial, is occupied and surrounded by regular troops, which were sent there by order of the Government to guard against any attempt at rescue.

In the Queen's bench to-day a motion was made by the counsel for the defense that the prisoners be returned to London for trial, on the ground that the bitter religious prejudice existing against the prisoners in Warwickshire would render it impossible for them to obtain an impartial jury and fair trial. The motion was heard, and the judges reserved their decision.

The prisoners, Dresmond and Allen, implicated in the Clerkenwell explosion, were again brought up to-day for examination, on a charge of murder. Many witnesses were present, but the evidence given contains no facts of importance.

RICHMOND, VA.

Address of General Butler.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

RICHMOND, January 13.—Gen. Butler addressed an immense crowd at African Church to-night. He advocated equal political rights for blacks, equal powers in the Government, and an equal burden in supporting it. The land should bear its part of the taxation and the burden should not be thrown on the laboring man. He said the time for confiscation, whether right or wrong, was gone, and he did not think his audience now expected it. Cries of ("No we don't.") He advised southern men to divide their lands, as it must come to that at last. The men who worked the land would eventually be the owners of the land. He did not believe any war of races would occur. If it did it would not come from the blacks. He argued against the folly of the Southern people remaining out of the Union, hoping for better terms. These they could not get, for whatever other changes might take place the Senate would not change for six years, and before two years expired the admission of States to their rights in the Union would be accomplished on the present terms.

REPORTS.

The Visiting Committees of the several wards reported the schools in their respective wards as in a flourishing condition. The night schools especially are reported as progressing more favorably than at the previous meeting.

The Committee on High Schools reported favorably to opening a night school for the colored children of the city.

The Committee on Colored Schools presented their report, accompanied by sundry bills, and a petition from S. A. Neale, asking for the establishment of a night school for the colored children. The following bills were ordered to be paid: William Tate, Jr. & Co., $131.41; M'Clinton & Hoag, $36.50; Jas. M. Balph, $20; R. Theophilis, $7.

The Secretary read a communication from J. P. Wickersham, State Superintendent of Common Schools, relating to High Schools, and calling attention to an article in the School Journal, addressed "To School Directors of cities and boroughs of more than ten thousand inhabitants." The communication was received and referred to the Committee on High Schools.

RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. Barr offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the action of the Committee on High Schools in employing the necessary number of Assistant Teachers in the several Night Schools of the city be and is hereby approved, and for the present session the monthly salary of Assistant Teachers in Night Schools shall be $25.

On motion of Mr. Barker Mrs. S. A. Neale was reappointed Janitress of the colored Schools, at a salary of $12 per month, and a warrant ordered to be drawn in her favor for $25 for two months' salary now due.

Mr. Brown presented the following resolution which was adopted:

Resolved, That the number of teachers in the different regular schools shall be based on the average attendance of scholars for the month of December, making thereby the minimum number for which a teacher shall be allowed.

Mr. Ross moved that a warrant be drawn in favor of the Manchester School District for $530,00, the ballance due them as per agreement, with the Board of Controll.

The Chair decided the motion out of order as the matter had been referred to the finance Committee to report.

Mr. Ross appealed from the decision; The Chair was sustained.

Mr. Kollock offered the following:

Resolved, That a Committee of three be appointed by the President, with instructions to take immediate measure to procure the passage of a special law, to authorize the School Directors of the city of Allegheny, to levy and apportion the school taxes within thirty days after the first Tuesday of February, in each year.

The resolution was adopted.

Mr. Kollock, offered the following resolution, which was adopted.

Mr. Young moved that teachers in the night schools be hereafter paid quarterly.

Mr. Barr amended by substituting "monthly" for "quarterly."

The resolution, as amended, was adopted.

Mr. Brown moved that twenty-two nights constitute a month in the night schools. Adopted.

The bond of William Thompson, collector of delinquent taxes, was approved.

On motion, adjourned sine die.

Trinity Church—Bishop Hopkins.

When the congregation of Trinity Church assembled Sunday morning, they found the chancel and organ loft draped in black, which at the close of the morning prayers and just before the sermon, the Rector, Rev. Mr. Scarborough explained in the following beautiful and appropriate reference to the recent death of Bishop Hopkins:

The weeds of mourning—the sad tokens of widowhood and orphanage—are mingled this morning with our Christmas greens, because "there is a prince and a great man fallen in Israel."

The Presiding Bishop of our Church has been suddenly and unexpectedly taken from us, and in common with the whole body, we are pained and grieved at our heavy loss.

Among all the Bishops of our communion perhaps there was not another possessed of such varied and rare attainments. As a scholar Bishop Hopkins was both diligent and accurate. As a controversalist he was fearless and powerful. No writer of the present century has done so much to expose the presumptuous and extravagant claims put forth by the Church of Rome. At an early date in his ministry his attention was turned in that direction, and in order to satisfy his own mind and do full justice to others, he determined to collect together all the writings of the early Fathers in the original tongues, and as an earnest searcher after truth he set about a most diligent and thorough examination of them. The result of his long and patient study may be traced through his various writings, but it shines out most conspicuously in his unanswerable refutation of Dr. Milners Samsus' book "The End of Controversy." This he most ably controverted by destroying its subtle network of sophistries and falsehoods. But his reputation will not depend wholly on his power as an author, or his profoundness as a great scholar. In every department of fine art, in all that goes to make up the man or the cultivated gentleman, he excelled; as a musician, a painter, a poet, an architect, a chemist, his knowledge and taste were marvellous.

But while we in common with the whole church mourn the loss of our eldest, if not indeed our greatest Bishop, there is a still closer bond that unites us to him, and intensifies our loss. It was here in this city and in this Parish that his ministerial work began, that the foundation of his future greatness was laid. Some still living here remember the departed Bishop as a brilliant young lawyer, afterwards a Rector of this Parish, already venerable in history—and as the architect and builder of this church—a model of neatness and beauty for its day.

His name and fame are intimately associated with church life and church growth here. This parish was justly proud of him as the oldest of the four Rectors (all but himself still living) who have served at her altars in the past half century. His name and his memory are still cherished with deep affection and death cannot rob us of these.

To say that Bishop Hopkins never made mistakes would be to assert that he was more than human. But if mistakes they were—they were honestly made. Many of his truest friends have differed widely from him in opinion—both in matters ecclesiastical and civil. But the peculiarities and prejudices of the man are as nothing when compared with his towering greatness. We forget them all to-day as the finished life rises up before us in its colossal grandeur.

Injured on the Railroad.

Monday morning, about seven o'clock, Joseph Bell, a young man in the employ of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway Company as train shifter, was severely injured. Having coupled the Adams Express car to the locomotive for the purpose of having it shifted to the Union Depot, where the western train is made up, he ran along Grant street toward Washington, and after adjusting a switch at the mouth of that street, attempted to jump on the front platform of the car. Just while he was in the act of jumping he fell over a pile of dirt, and was thrown under the car, one wheel passing over his right leg, crushing it terribly. His left foot was also crushed, and the flesh considerably lacerated. He retained his hold on the guards of the car, thus saving his life. Immediately after the accident he was placed on board the train and conveyed to his boarding house, on Franklin street, Second ward, Allegheny, where he was promptly attended by Dr. Irish. It is feared that it will be necessary to amputate one leg.

On a Strike.

A few days since, as we are informed, a strike occurred at King's Glass Works, in Birmingham, on account of a reduction in the wages, in which a portion of the hands refused to join, and among the latter was William Fry, who, having a family to support by his labor, thought it better to work at the reduced rates, which would enable him to procure at least the necessaries of life for his wife and little ones, rather than remain idle for perhaps a month or two and allow his family to starve or depend upon the cold charities of a heartless world for sustenance. Among the strikers were Michael Burton and Lewis Ziller, who, it appears, thought Fry had no right to take this view of the case, and determined to chastise him for doing so. Sunday evening, it is alleged, they met him on the street and without any further provocation than that stated attacked and beat him in a shameful manner. He made information before Alderman McMasters, yesterday, charging Burton and Ziller with assault and battery, upon which a warrant was issued for the accused, who were arrested and, after a hearing, held for Court. He also made information against the same parties for surety of the peace, alleging that they threatened to do him bodily harm, for which they were also held to answer at Court.

Explosion of an Oil Still—Partial Destruction of the Sterling Oil Works.

The alarm of fire about half-past one o'clock Monday morning, from box No. 65, at Penn and Smith streets, Ninth ward, was, not false, but caused by the explosion of one of the stills in the Sterling Oil Works, of Kirkpatrick, Lyon & Co., situated near the upper part of Herr's Island. The explosion occurred shortly after 1 o'clock. Almost immediately the oil which was in the still took fire, and for a time it was feared that the entire works would be destroyed, but fortunately the flames were confined to the still house The still contained about one hundred and fifty barrels of crude oil, all of which was destroyed. The shed covering the still was also consumed, and some of the adjacent buildings were shattered by the explosions. The other stills, however, were not materially injured. The cause of the explosion has not been definitely ascertained, but is supposed to have resulted from the freezing of the gas pipe of the still, thus preventing the escape of the explosive vapors thrown off during the process of refining. The loss is estimated at $4,000, upon which there is no insurance.

Another Victim.

Ellen Hannen yesterday made information, before Justice Barker, of South Pittsburgh, charging George Gibson with seduction under promise of marriage. The circumstances of the case are the same old story told again—only another instance of woman's confidence and man's treachery, another victim sacrificed to gratify the lusts of a heartless libertine. It is alleged by the prosecutrix that the defendant had been paying his addresses to her for almost two years, and that on or about the 6th of October, 1866, seduced her under promise of marriage, and afterwards deserted her. The defendant was arrested and, after a hearing, was held in the sum of one thousand dollars for his appearance at Court, in default of which he was committed to jail.

Trouble About a Tub.

Sarah Kneeland and Mary Baker, it appears, are neighbors, and reside in the Diamond. Sarah was the owner of a wash tub, which Mary was in the habit of using, and, it is alleged, used it so often that she was led to believe she owned it. Sarah's imagination was not so vivid, however, and she could not "see it in that light." She went to Mary and demanded the tub, but instead of receiving it was attacked and beaten for the presumption. She made two informations before Alderman McMasters, yesterday, charging Mary with larceny and with assault and battery. Warrants were issued in both cases.

Perry Literary Society.

E. W. Morrow, Esq., the President of this old and time honored Association, has called a special meeting of the members to be held at Mr. Hall Patterson's office, No. 71 Grant street, on Thursday night next. This Association is one of the oldest, as well as the most popular and widely known of our literary associations, and it is to be hoped that the meeting will be largely attended by those who claim membership. It is proposed that a grand re-union banquet of the members be held on the evening of the 22d of next February, and from the arrangements already made, we can safely promise quite a brilliant affair.

Larceny of a Ring.

Georgia Ward made information before Alderman McMasters yesterday, against Edward Andrews, charging him with the larceny of a ring valued at twenty-five dollars. It appears that the parties, at the time the larceny is alleged to have been committed, were on intimate terms, and that Andrews took the ring from the lady's finger. Subsequently, however, the intimacy ceased, and instead of returning the lady's ring, as he should have done without being requested so to do, he refused to return it when asked for. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

The Rink.—There was an immense assemblage at the Rink last evening. Over six hundred were enjoying themselves skating, and a large number of ladies and gentlemen filled the promenades. The intricate, ever-changing and graceful movements of that splendid young skater, Eugene W. Pratt, drew forth round after round of applause. The ice is in magnificent condition, and numbers formed themselves into sets and danced cotillions, quadrilles, &c. Those who have not been to the Rink, nor seen Mr. Pratt perform his wonderful maneuvers on skates, should go to-night.

Samuel Dyer.—It is announced that Mr. Samuel Dyer has consented to serve as Alderman in the Fourth ward, Allegheny, in place of his lamented father, lately deceased, if elected. It would redound greatly to the credit of the constituency of both cities if they would consent to elect to the civil magistracy none but such order and peace loving, such sober and judicious citizens as Samuel Dyer is well known to be.

Good Appointment.—We are pleased to announce that the County Commissioners have appointed G. M. Morrison, Esq., of Tarentum, Mercantile Appraiser of this county. Mr. Morrison is an upright business man, and well qualified to fill the position, and we have no doubt he will fill the office to the entire satisfaction of all.

TUESDAY, JAN. 14, 1868.

REPORT OF THE STATE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

The office of State Superintendent of Schools should be above party politics. The trusts are too high and too sacred to be committed to any man on political grounds alone. No position in our great State is half as important as the charge of the education of 739,389 youth to intelligence, industry and virtue. The expenditure of money, $5,170,750, large as it is in itself, is the smallest item in the account. Figures are wholly insufficient to measure the value to the youth themselves, to our State and the world, of the elevation of character, the increase of happiness, the addition to wealth and the saving from crime caused by the proper education of this nearly one million. No one can fully appreciate its importance. Give us a population of three millions, ever increasing, of well educated and moral people, and the many millions now wasted, or worse than wasted, in corrupting men would be saved, and in wealth and all that constitutes power we could face the world.

We were glad, therefore, when an intelligent, earnest man, whose heart had long been in the work, was appointed to the position of State Superintendent of Schools. No better selection could have been made. The report before us gives proof that he is no mere plodder in the footsteps of others. He has opinions and ways of doing things which are his own. His report is brief, well arranged, giving us just what we wanted to know. We learn that the whole number of pupils in attendance in 1867 was 10,644 greater than in 1866, and that the average attendance was 1,488 greater; that there was an increase of 405 male teachers and a decrease of 117 female teachers; that there was an increase in the length of the school term of 1⅔ days; that there was an increase of $1 53 per month in the salaries of male teachers and $1.20 per month to female teachers; that the people willingly "pay heavy taxes to educate their children and do pay in many instances from fifteen to twenty-six mills on the dollar;" that an examination shows 338 students from this State in colleges in other States and 385 in colleges in this State from other States.

No less interesting is the fact from twenty-four manufacturing establishments the average wages paid to those who cannot read is $30.00 per month; to those who can read but little, $46.00; to those who can read well, but who are in other respects poorly educated, $55 00; to those who are well educated in all respects, $85.00 per month. It also appears that the total number in our jails and poor-houses is 5,368; of these but 193 are good scholars, and 174 of these came through intemperance; that 1,615 cannot read; that 1,729 can read but little, and 916 can read well.

From the facts obtained from our jails, penitentiaries and poor houses, he says [illegible] following three things are indi[illegible]) That since the proportion [illegible] wholly illiterate in Pennsyl[illegible]y small, ignorance is a fruit [illegible]f crime; (2) that ability sim[illegible] and write on the part of the [illegible]nposing it does not largely [illegible]fety from the commission of [illegible]) that a good education tends [illegible]ed degree to prevent crime. [illegible]port also shows that Grammar [illegible]h Schools are the crown and [illegible]our system, and that those who [illegible]hese and who maintain that any [illegible]ire to extend their education be[illegible] ability to read and write and [illegible]ccounts, hold a most contracted [illegible]f education; that since God made [illegible]ds capable of being educated, it [illegible] right to be educated—to be educated in the highest degree practicably attainable.

He also states that the qualifications of teachers are much below what they ought to be—that not one-half of them ever read a single book on the subject of education. May not this arise partly from the many falsely called Normal Schools, which profess to prepare persons to teach and secure for them certificates in three or six months?

A novel feature in this model report is the prominence given to Sabbath Schools. We agree with the Superintendent that "our children ought not only to be trained intellectually, but morally and religiously. There ought to be deeply implanted in the breast of every child some fixed form of faith in holy things." "We may now boast that no child born in Pennsylvania need grow up in ignorance of the ordinary branches of knowledge. It will be a glorious day for the State when it can be said that all our children enjoy equal opportunities of receiving instruction in the Word and ways of God."

CITY IMPROVEMENTS.

Lying between old Pittsburgh and East Liberty, and included in the Consolidated City, are several large tracts of territory peculiarly eligible for building upon. No district within the new limits affords such advantages for the extension of the city and the augmentation of population, by the presentation of desirable sites, by contiguity and consequent ease of egress and ingress, and by the practicability at moderate rates of gas and water.

This inviting district ought speedily to be laid out, in a suitable manner, preliminarily to being built upon. Care should be taken to avoid some of the evils which exist in the old city, as well as some of the infelicities which have been fastened, perhaps permanently, on most of the suburban localities. Let us particularize.

One of the most undesirable things in the old city is that system of alleys by which it is disfigured, and the homes of thousands of the laboring population made uncomfortable. Intended, originally, it may be, to afford convenient access to stables and the rear of residences and places of business, they have necessarily been put to other uses, have become unsightly, are overcrowded, most of them filthy, and productive of disease. In Paris it has been found best, at vast expense, to abolish most of these narrow and inconvenient passages, which may have suited the civilization of the Dark Ages, but are out of place in the economy of the nineteenth century.

At East Liberty, as well as in other outlying districts, the streets are little better than alleys. So narrow are they as to forbid the privacy desirable, and that ornamentation which adds a charm to residences outside the stir and dust of a large town.

The district of which we have spoken ought not to be suffered to fall a prey to like short-sightedness and avarice. The city authorities ought to order it to be laid out, on a liberal scale, according to the best modern ideas, so that it shall be cut up into squares by broad avenues. Some of these new streets ought at once to be opened, the grades thereof established, the curb-stones put in and the sidewalks laid. It would be well at once to add lines of gas-lights, and as population begins to flow thitherward, promptly to extend water-mains.

If this shall be done ten years will not elapse before that district will be covered with dwellings, altogether surpassing any thing now known in these two cities for elegance and desirableness. Men of wealth, men of medium incomes, men living on salaries or weekly wages, will there find homes, away from the smoke of the factories, and at reasonable cost. Street cars will be established much sooner. The progress of the city will be accelerated; because it will contain certain wards presenting as high inducements for residences as can be found elsewhere, as to cleanliness, retirement, accessibility and expense.

This is strictly within the province of the City Government. It is for this object, among others, that municipal administrations are maintained. Their province, in this regard, is to do, by combined action, those things which citizens individually are not competent to achieve, and which yet are required by the general welfare. A city allowed to grow by spontaneous accretions, so to speak; that is, without provision beforehand for the suitable accommodation of the incoming population, must resemble a fruit tree upon which the pruning-knife has not been exercised—scraggily, redundant, unsightly, fruitless.

Nor is this measure unjust to the owners of the properties thus to be brought into market for building purposes, but rather an incalculable advantage. These lands are now hardly producing income enough to pay the taxes with which they are charged. If one-third or one-half of them should have to be sold to pay the expenses of the improvements we here propose, the market value of the residue would be double what it now is.

We respectfully ask of Councils to consider this matter.

GOVERNOR GEARY advises that provision of law be made whereby interest accruing on deposits of the public funds shall accrue to the Treasury, for the common benefit, instead of to the Treasurer, for his individual advantage. This is easy to say, and sounds prettily enough in the ears of tax payers; but by what stipulations shall this result be produced? Who shall determine where the funds shall be deposited? in what sums? and at what rate of interest? Is it proposed to relieve the Treasurer from responsibility for the safe keeping of the moneys? These, and other questions of cognate description, will need to be answered, before it can be determined what shape to give the proposed enactment. Practically the subject will be found to be attended by difficulties.

If we recollect aright, during the Treasurership of Mr. H. S. MAGRAW this matter attracted attention, and a law was passed forbidding the Treasurer to loan the public moneys. We think that statute still remains, and is about as effectual as any similar one can be; that is, it has no effect whatever. It is made the duty of the Treasurer to keep securely the public moneys, and pay them out according to law. A special place for their custody is not provided. He may keep them in his pocket; in his dwelling; in his place of business; anywhere, so that they are forthcoming when required. Ordinarily, he puts them in different banks; such as he sees proper to take the risk in; and without bargaining, some rate of interest is allowed him. If one of the banks fail, he and his sureties are liable for the resultant loss. If the State shall designate the banks of deposit, it must, in equity, run its own risks. Indeed, there will not be a scramble for the office, if the law determines the places of deposit, and at the same time makes the Treasurer responsible.

It has been suggested that a species of Sub-Treasury be established; that is, that a proper lock-up be provided, and that the public moneys shall be kept therein, subject to inspection by an officer appointed for that purpose, so as to make sure that it is there, and not somewhere else. This system would make the Treasurer responsible for putting the moneys in this lock-up, but not for its defense against burglars. This would be asking what no sane person would attempt for any usual salary.

Probably this whole matter will be sifted in the course of the current session, when it shall come up for consideration. The change proposed by the Governor, if feasible, would take one prolific source of contention, and often, of corruption, out of the politics of the Commonwealth. This is desirable, provided it can be accomplished without entailing liability to loss.

*The following relate to gold coin only.

After the Augustin Era the product of the European mines failed, and the stock of coin gradually fell until the ninth century, each step of its fall shown by the greater poverty and social degradation of the people, until at last such was the scarcity of coin, human beings were made a legal tender at specified rates.

This dearth of the precious metals contributed largely toward establishing the Dark Ages. Out of these depths arose two great modern institutions, the Mercantile Theory and Credit, the one a palliative, the other a cure.

No increase to the stock of coin occurred until after the discovery of America, but the invention of paper credit largely alleviated the prevailing misery.

This invention is due to the Jews, who, in 1160, introduced bills of exchange, and who were the only persons, from the institution of the canon law against the taking of interest for loans of money to the sixteenth century, who, in Western Europe, durst make a business of giving credit.

The same people established the first banks in Europe. That of Venice was established in 1157; that of Geneva in 1345; that of Barcelona in 1401, and that of Genoa in 1407.

The discovery of America, in 1492, produced no immediate increase in the European stock of coin.

The mines of Potosi were opened in 1545, but it was not until near the seventeenth century that the stock of coin sensibly increased.

The taking of interest was totally forbidden in England until 1571, and the device of extending credit by means of indorsement was not practiced until a century later, when it was introduced from Holland.

The stock of coin steadily increased until 1827, when it reached the highest point, and then declined until the opening of the Pacific Coast mines in 1848, when it again increased, passing in 1860 the greatest previous height, and attaining in 1867 the enormous sum of $200,000,000.

—The perils of editing newspapers in France are shown by a table which some one has taken the trouble to compile, giving the fines and imprisonments suffered by the editors of French newspapers during the past few months, for printing articles unfavorable to the Government. The offences that call down these judgments are, in the lenient language of the French police office, called: "The insertion of French news, exciting to hatred and contempt of Government, and attacks on morals and religion." It is a peculiarity of Napoleon's mild and paternal rule to fine, imprison or banish people whose opinions differ from his own; and in this way "the Empire is peace." The table referred to gives a list of twenty-one newspapers, all of which have been fined, and in some cases their editors imprisoned. Thus, La Liberte was fined $2,000, La Courrier Francaise was fined $720 and its editor imprisoned four months; the Epoque was fined $560; the Journal de Roubaix $400; the Nain Jaune was fined $360, and its editor imprisoned four months; Le Soliel was fined a similar amount, with two months imprisonment; La Lune and Le Corsaire were each fined $120, and the editors of each imprisoned two months, and so the list goes on.

CURE OF CROUP.—An exchange, referring to the fact of a doctor in Heidelburg, and two of his assistants having died of croup in consequence of sucking the blood flowing during a successful operation of tracheotomy, stated that the disease is always curable by a very simple remedy, even when the patient is on the verge of suffocation. This consists, first, in applying water to the throat by means of a sponge or soft cloth, so hot as to be very painful to the hand of the operator, instant relief being usually afforded. After this has been continued for fifteen to thirty minutes, a poultice of linseed meal, rolled up in a cloth, is to be applied while very hot, and left on for some time. The remedies are to be repeated should the attack return; but the writer states that after a long experience he has never known them to fail.

Curious Notions of the Blind.

Touch does much for the blind boy, but brings him not a single grain nearer to the discerning of colors. Where, therefore, touch fails him, he can gain little external help, and presently will be altogether at sea. Things apparently identical in form may differ in size, may also totally differ in essence and in nature, and of this difference he may be wholly unconscious. He may form, and does form, the most outrageously incorrect ideas on some common matter, though he may continually amuse and surprise you by clever guesses, or gleams of what seems like intuition. Du Puiseaux, the son of a professor of philosophy in the University of Paris, was in some things one of the shrewdest men of his day, having attained considerable proficiency in botany and chemistry; but he was blind. He had a wonderful memory for sounds, and could, it is said recognize by their voice persons whom he had only once heard. He could easily tell if he was in a street or in a blind alley, in a large room or a small one, but he believed that astronomers were the only people who saw with telescopes, and that they had their eyes differently formed from other men. Nor was his notion about eyes in general a whit less incorrect. "The eye," said he, "is an organ on which the air should have the same effect as my stick on my hand." The boy upon whom Chesleden operated for cataract had clearly been of the same opinion. Even when restored to sight, he believed that the objects he looked on touched his eye, as those which he felt touched his skin, and he consequently had no true idea of distance. He asked which was the sense that deceived him, the sight or the touch?" He wondered how a likeness of his father's face could be got in so small a space as his mother's watch case; it seemed to him as impossible as getting a bushel into a pint measure. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that when some one asked Dr. Puiseaux if he would not be very glad to have his sight, he replied: "If it were not for curiosity, I would sooner have long arms: it seems to me that my hands would teach me better what is passing in the moon than your eyes or telescopes; and, beside, the eyes cease to see sooner than the hands to touch. It would, therefore, be as well to improve the organ I have as to give me the one I want." Abundant evidence of a similar kind might still be adduced, but this seems enough to prove that even among the educated blind people there must be a large section of the physical and metaphysical world of which their idea is to a great extent vague and worthless.—From the London Quarterly Review.

Growing Old.

I suspect it takes some time to arrive at the conviction, but I have come to it at last, that there are few things so disagreeable in life as growing old. Now, although, as I have said, the knowledge and acceptance of the fact be the growth of years, yet somehow the real acknowledgement to one's self always comes with a shock. You bear a certain stiffness in your back sinews, and a general grogginess about your ankle-joints for years. You take to soft hairbrushes and avoid draughts, and eschew acid wines, by a process so smooth and frictionless as not to be recognized. You exchange your flippant mare, with a tendency to shy and a general skittishness, for a stout cob of fourteen hands, an easy mover, and quiet to mount. You accept your dinner invitations with a more discriminating regard for the cook than the company; but you do all these things so gradually as to be imperceptible. It is only when you have overheard a cabman speak of you as the "old gent what gave his two bob," or when a very fresh young lady asks what sort of dances were in vogue when you were young, that suddenly a new light breaks in on you, and an indescribable sense of terror shoots through you at the thought that you have really rounded the "Tattenham" corner of existence, and have begun the "run home." Not that, even then, you fully realize all the horrors of the situation. Much is ascribed to the ignorance of the cities; but you go home certainly, with that puzzled sense that there is a problem to be settled, a doubt to be resolved, which, until that moment, had never given even a passing uneasiness. It is something like the parson had said in the sermon, so startling and novel that you cannot rid yourself of it, but keep on asking yourself, Is this a fact? has he an undoubted authority for telling us this? Struggle how you may, from that time forward you are an altered man. Of course you make no admissions to the world at large of changed sentiments. The law of England declares no man is bound to criminate himself, and you go about as jauntily—perhaps even a little more jauntily—as of yore; just as a merchant with an approaching bankruptcy turns out in the park with a more showy equipage. But in the solitude of your own dressing-room you know that the trial is over, the verdict is given, and all that remains is to entreat the Court to suspend judgment. "A long day, my lord—a long day." A pitiful cry it is, sad enough to utter, and sadder to listen to.—O'Dowd in Blackwood.

The Ocean River.

Hot water springs are common, but there is but one hot river, and that runs through the ocean. If it did not run regularly, or if its waters were to get cold, the green island of Erin would change its nature even more than its name, and become a Greenland in title and a barren one in fact. In truth, any change in the course or character of this warm water stream would have so terrible a thermal influence as to utterly defy prediction or remedy of results. It is, therefore, with no little apprehension that thinking men regard the announcement of the fact that the current of the Gulf Stream has nearly doubled its velocity. The occurrence of this phenomenon so soon after the earthquake in the Gulf Islands cannot but give rise to a surmise of some connection between the manifestations. The immediate result of increased force in the current has been to augment the dangers of navigation near the Florida Keys, even steam vessels finding it difficult to weather points easily passed previous to the increased velocity of the stream. This consequence is of itself important, but less alarming than the apprehension of further changes which may have a bearing on the interests of all civilized humanity.

—A very delicate, simple and beautiful machine has been constructed, which will take a portion of a tree, after it has been cut the right length and width, and shave it up into thin ribbons as wide as a roll of house paper, making one hundred or one hundred and fifty to the inch. These rolls of wood are placed on the walls by paper hangers with paste and brush, precisely in the same manner with paper. The wood is wet when used, and really works easier than paper, because it is much more tough and pliable. In these days, when variety is sought for, one can finish the walls of his house in different woods, to suit his taste. One room can be finished in bird's eye maple, another in chestnut, another in cherry, another in white wood, and so on. Thus he has no imitation, but the real, genuine article upon his walls. The eye tires of set figures, such as as we have in ordinary paper hangings, but never of nature itself. The longer the wood hanging remains on the wall the more distinct will be the grain and color of the wood.

—Of the 242,731 immigrants who arrived at New York during 1867, it appears there were from Germany, 117,591; Ireland, 65,134; England, 33,712; Scotland, 6,315; Sweden, 4,843; Switzerland, 3,985; France, 3,204; Holland, 2,156; Belgium, 1,623; Denmark, 1,372; Italy, 1,032; Norway, 309; Poland, 298; West Indies 214; Spain, 203; Prussia, 185; Wales, 142; South America, 97; Japan, 87; Portugal, 79; Australia, 44; Canada, 42; Mexico, 25; Nova Scotia, 22; China, 17; Greece, 8; Central America, 7; Turkey, 5; East Indies, 4, and Africa, 2. The total is ten thousand more than the total immigration for 1866.

A Woman Turned Man.

The La Crosse Democrat tells a wonderful yarn, for the truth of which the editor vouches with Munchausen-like gravity. A Miss Ellen Burnham, he says, married one Powell, a Chicago newspaper man, in 1862, lived with him two years and had one child. Suddenly the lady's voice began to change, her peachy cheeks to spout with whiskers, until, at the age of twenty-one, the attractive young woman was transformed into a good-looking young man. A separation was the natural consequence, and, after a time, the quondam girl vindicated her new found sex by marrying one of her former music pupils. As the Democrat puts the case, "the former girl is now a man, the former wife is now a husband, the former wife is now a father, the former young lady teacher of a young lady is now that young lady's husband.

—In an English town, two shoemakers were fierce rivals. When one made any change or improvement, the other did likewise. At last one put up a new sign, on which was the motto, Men's Conscia Recti. The other was overcome at first, but soon appeared with his sign, Men's and Women's Conscia Recti.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

540 MILES
OF THE
UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD,
Running West from Omaha,
ACROSS THE CONTINENT,
ARE NOW COMPLETED,

The track being laid and trains running
WITHIN TEN MILES OF THE SUMMIT OF THE ROCKY MOUNTAINS.

The remaining ten miles will be finished as soon as the weather permits the road-bed to be sufficiently packed to receive the rails. The work continues to be pushed forward in the rock cuttings on the western slope with unabated energy, and a much larger force will be employed during the current year than ever before. The prospect that the whole

GRAND LINE TO THE PACIFIC
WILL BE COMPLETED IN 1870,

Was never better. The means so far provided for construction have proved ample, and there is no lack of funds for the most vigorous prosecution of the enterprise. These means are divided into four classes:

1.—United States Bonds.

Having thirty years to run, and bearing six per cent. currency interest, at the rate of $16,000 per mile for 517 miles on the Plains; then at the rate of $48,000 per mile for 150 miles through the Rocky Mountains; then at the rate of $32,000 per mile for the remaining distance, for which the United States takes a SECOND LIEN as security. The interest on these Bonds is paid by the United States government, which also pays the Company one-half the amount of its bills in money for transporting its freight, troops, mails, &c. The remaining half of these bills is placed to the Company's credit, and forms a sinking fund which may finally discharge the whole amount of this lien.

2.—First Mortgage Bonds.

By its charter the Company is permitted to issue its own First Mortgage Bonds to the same amount as the bonds issued by the Government, and no more, and only as the road progresses. The Trustees for the Bondholders are the Hon. E. D. Morgan, U. S. Senator from New York, and the Hon. Oakes Ames, member of the U. S. House of Representatives, who are responsible for the delivery of these Bonds to the Company, in accordance with the terms of the law.

3.—The Land Grant.

The Union Pacific Railroad Company has a land grant or absolute donation from the government of 12,800 acres to the mile on the line of the road, which will not be worth less than $1 50 per acre, at the lowest valuation.

4.—The Capital Stock.

The authorized capital of the Union Pacific Railroad Company is $100,000,000, of which $8,500,000 have been paid on the work already done.

THE MEANS SUFFICIENT TO BUILD THE ROAD.

Contracts for the entire work of building 914 miles of first-class railroad west from Omaha, comprising much of the most difficult mountain work, and embracing every expense except surveying, have been made with responsible parties, (who have already finished over 540 miles,) at the average rate of sixty-eight thousand and fifty-eight dollars ($68,058) per mile. This price includes all necessary shops for construction and repairs of cars, depots, stations, and all other incidental buildings, and also locomotives, passenger, baggage and freight cars, and other requisite rolling stock, to an amount that shall not be less than $5,000 per mile. Allowing the cost of the remaining one hundred and eighty-six of the eleven hundred miles assumed to be built by the Union Pacific Company to be $90,000 per mile,

The Total Cost of Eleven Hundred Miles will be as Follows:

914 miles, at $68,058 .... $62,205,012
186 miles, at $90,000 16,740,000
Add discount on bonds, surveys, &c. 4,500,000
Amount $83,445,012

As the U. S. Bonds are equal to money, and the Company's own First Mortgage Bonds have a ready market, we have as the

Available Cash Resources for Building Eleven Hundred Miles:

U. S. Bonds $29,328,000
First Mortgage Bonds 29,328,000
Capital Stock paid in on the work now done 8,500,000
Land Grant, 14,080,000 acres, at $1 50 per acre 21,120,000
Total $88,276,000

The Company have ample facilities for supplying any deficiency that may arise in means for construction. This may be done wholly or in part by additional subscriptions to the Capital Stock.

Earnings of the Company.

At present the profits of the Company are derived only from its local traffic, but this is already much more than sufficient to pay the interest on all the Bonds the Company can issue, if not another mile were built. It is not doubted that when the road is completed the through traffic of the only line connecting the Atlantic and Pacific States will be large beyond precedent, and, as there will be no competition, it can always be done at profitable rates.

It will be noticed that the Union Pacific Railroad is, in fact, a GOVERNMENT WORK, built under the supervision of Government officers, and to a large extent with Government money, and that its bonds are issued under Government direction. It is believed that no similar security is so carefully guarded, and certainly no other is based upon a larger or more valuable property. As the Company's

First Mortgage Bonds

Are offered for the present at NINETY CENTS ON THE DOLLAR, they are the cheapest security in the market, being more than 15 per cent. lower than United States Stocks. They pay

Six Per Cent. in Gold,

Or OVER NINE PER CENT. upon the investment, and have thirty years to run before maturity. Subscriptions will be received in Pittsburgh by

JAMES T. BRADY & CO.,
S. McCLEAN & CO., 75 Fourth street,
HART, CAUGHEY & CO., Third and Wood streets,
And KRAMER & RAHM.

And in New York at the Company's Office, No. 20 Nassau street, and by CONTINENTAL NATIONAL BANK, No. 7 Nassau street.
CLARK, DODGE & CO., Bankers, No. 51 Wall street,
JOHN J. CISCO & SON, Bankers, No. 33 Wall street, and by the Company's advertised Agents throughout the United States. Remittances should be made in drafts or other funds par in New York, and the bonds will be sent free of charge by return express. Parties subscribing through local agents, will look to them for their safe delivery.

A new PAMPHLET AND MAP, showing the Progress of the Work, Resources for Construction, and Value of Bonds, may be obtained at the Company's Offices, or of its advertised agents, or will be sent free on application.

PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST

IN GOLD COIN.

THE BEST INVESTMENT

For Surplus Capital.

The attention of Investors, Trustees, Executors, and others desiring an unusually safe, reliable and profitable form of permanent investment, is called to the advantages and assurances of the

Central Pacific Railroad

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS.

The CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY offer for sale their FIRST MORTGAGE THIRTY YEAR SIX PER CENT. GOLD BONDS and submit to Investors the following, among other obvious considerations, and invite the comparison with the merits and excellences of any class of corporate securities:

I. These bonds are based upon the most vital and valuable part of the grand National Pacific Railroad, soon to become the main channel of communication on the continent.

II. The local settlement, and the business therefrom, is remarkably large and profitable, and must constantly increase.

III. The hardest part of the road is now built, and the remainder will be rapidly carried forward over the Salt Lake Plains.

IV. The greater part of the means necessary to build the road is provided by the U. S. Government upon a subordinate lien.

V. The state and chief cities of California have contributed upward of $3,000,000 to the enterprise, without lien.

VI. The grant of land is destined at an early day to prove of far greater market value than the total of the First Mortgage Bonds issued upon the road and equipments.

VII. This road lies altogether along the gold and silver producing regions, and its revenues are received in coin.

VIII. The management of this Company has been distinguished for prudence and economy; and the surplus earnings, after payment of expenses and interest, are devoted to construction purposes.

IX. The interest liabilities of the Company upon the portion now in operation are less than a third the net earnings.

X. Both principal and interest are payable IN GOLD, under special provisions of both National and State enactment.

These Bonds are in sums of $1,000 each, with semi-annual gold coupons attached, payable in January and July, and are offered for sale at 95 per cent. of their par value, and accrued interest from January 1st added, in currency.

At this time they yield nearly

Nine per cent. upon the Investment.

These Bonds bid fair to attain the most prominent position among the non-speculative investments of the country, and will be actively dealt in at the money centers in Europe.

Holders of Government Securities have an opportunity of exchanging them for Central Pacific Bonds, bearing an equal rate of interest, with the principal abundantly secured, and of realizing a profit of ten to fifteen per cent. in addition.

Orders sent with the funds through responsible Banks or Express Companies will receive prompt attention. Bonds sent by return Express, to any address in the United States, at our cost. Information, Descriptive Pamphlets, Maps, &c., furnished on application at the office of the Railroad Company, ORDINANCES.

A SUPPLEMENT TO AN ORDINANCE passed the 4th day of November, A. D. 1867, entitled "An Ordinance relative to the Laying of Gas Pipe."

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Burgess and Town Council of the Borough of Lawrenceville, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That no other Gas Company shall receive the privilege of introducing gas into said borough in competition with the Lawrenceville Gas Company: Provided, the said Lawrenceville Gas Company will furnish gas to the said borough, and the citizens thereof, at as low rates at all times as those now charged, or that may at any time hereafter be charged, by other companies similarly situate; and provided, further, That the said Lawrenceville Gas Company shall commence and prosecute operations within six months from the passage of this ordinance.

SECTION 2. That when any street, lane or alley of said borough shall be opened by the said Gas Company a distance not exceeding in length 400 feet, for the purpose of laying down, relaying and repairing the pipes as aforesaid, the same shall not be kept open or obstructed for an unnecessary length of time, but shall be enclosed and repaired, and all rubbish and dirt occasioned by the opening of any street, lane or alley as aforesaid, shall be promptly and speedily removed by the said Gas Company, at its own proper costs and charges.

SECTION 3. In the opening of any street, lane or alley as aforesaid, the said Gas Company shall use all necessary precautions to protect the lives and property of the citizens from accident and damage. It shall erect or cause to be erected all necessary barricades to prevent all such accidents and damage, and shall not allow any part of its works or apparatus necessary for the preparation of gas to be so situate as to endanger the property of any citizen or become a public nuisance.

SECTION 4. That for any violation of the provisions of this ordinance the said Gas Company shall, upon conviction thereof before any Justice of the Peace of the county of Allegheny, forfeit and pay the sum of twenty-five dollars, and for every hour's continuation thereof after such conviction, the further sum of fifty dollars; provided, that the recovery of any such fine or fines shall not bar or in any manner interfere with the right of said borough, or any individual or individuals to maintain a civil action for any damages which they may have sustained by any violation of the provisions of this ordinance by the said Gas Company. dy3

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

ALLEGHENY CITY IMPROVEMENTS

List of New Buildings, Prepared by Mr. A. Davis, Water Assessor.

A list of new buildings erected in Allegheny City during the past year, together with the character of the buildings, names of the owners, and the streets and alleys where located. This list of new buildings includes the territory recently annexed to Allegheny City, namely, Manchester and a portion of McClure and Reserve townships. This, with a portion of the First and Second wards, now form the Fifth, Sixth and Seventh wards in Allegheny city. In the three new wards mentioned, I had designed to have given the number of new buildings erected in 1866 and 1867, and the names of the owners and the aggregate cost of the same, believing it would be of general interest to the citizens; but owing to the inclemency of the weather in December I was prevented from completing the list of names of the owners. Therefore, I decline giving them in part, but will give the aggregate number of buildings erected in 1866-'67, and the total erected in Allegheny City in the past two years, and also the number erected in Duquesne Borough. RECAPITULATION.

The new buildings are classed and apportioned in the four wards as follows:

	Frame.	Brick.	Additions.	Remodeled.
First ward	41	25	4	3
Second ward	101	33	21	5
Third ward	73	85	19	3
Fourth ward	16	15	5	4
	231	158	49	15

Of the above number of new buildings 338 were dwellings; the whole number erected in the four wards the past two years was 749; additions, 106; remodeled, 31. Quite a number of these were first class dwellings, and cost from $10,000 to $50,000 each. There is quite a large number of other buildings in the list worthy of notice, but I will only mention a few of the more costly ones. The Fourth Ward Public School House, located on Liberty near Chesnut street, is a magnificent building. The German Catholic School House, on the corner of Liberty and North street, Fourth ward, is a very large, fine building. The four-storied malt house of Gilmore, Straub & Co., located on South Canal street, between Chesnut and Sycamore streets, Fourth ward, is a very large and substantial building; it has the capacity for storing 50,000 bushels of grain. The Methodist Church erected the past year on the corner of North avenue and Beaver street, Second ward, is a splendid edifice. It has a cupola of no ordinary height; from the base to the top of the spire is one hundred and ninety-seven feet. In the dome there is suspended a beautiful sounding bell of over three thousand pounds weight. In the past two years nine church edifices were erected in Allegheny City, eight being brick and one frame. With two exceptions, all were fine large churches, and cost over two hundred and sixty thousand dollars. The Episcopal Church, located on the corner of Union avenue and Strawberry alley, Third ward, has been refitted during the past year. It now presents a very fine appearance.

In the three new wards mentioned the number of new buildings erected in 1866 and '67 is about 534. Of this number over three-fourths were good frame dwellings, many of which were finished with a display of taste. The brick and stone dwellings were of a good class and a credit to any city.

The whole number of new buildings erected in the seven wards the past two years is 1,283. This exhibits a cheering evidence of the rapid growth and prosperity of Allegheny City. In Duquesne borough twenty-two new dwellings and one large foundry were erected the past year.

A. DAVIS,
Assessor of Water Rents.

Night Prowlers Committed.

Saturday night, at a late hour, Mike Smith, Tom Price and John Smith were prowling about the city, and in the course of their peregrinations entered a house on Third street, in which John McKenna, a colored boy, occupied a room as a sleeping apartment, into which the party entered by breaking open the door. After gaining admittance in this unceremonious manner, they attacked and beat the boy shamefully. Yesterday morning he made an information before Alderman McMasters, charging them with assault and battery. They were arrested and, after a hearing, committed to jail in default of bail for their appearance at Court.

Congress Street.—A fine opportunity for enjoyment is afforded to the lovers of the "slipping art" on Congress street, which for that purpose is in most excellent condition; but as it was not intended for a skating park, we think it would become the Street Commissioner of that district to have the water which flows over the street, from the fire plug at Franklin street, turned in some other channel, if the leak cannot be stopped, as the street for a considerable distance at that point, as well as at several places below it, is completely covered with ice.

Wages Reduced.—The wages of the employees of the Pittsburgh, Allegheny & Manchester Passenger Railway Company have been reduced twelve and a half per cent., to take effect yesterday. The conductors and drivers in the employ of the company now get one dollar and seventy-five cents per day, instead of two dollars as formerly.

Surety of the Peace.—Sarah Thompson yesterday made separate informations before Alderman Strain against Catharine Smith and Ann Coleman, for surety of the peace, alleging that they threatened to do her bodily harm. Warrants were issued for the arrest of the accused.

Assault and Battery.—Patrick Hughes made information before Alderman Strain yesterday charging Miss Grovan with assault and battery. The parties reside in Birmingham. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the accused.

THE COURTS.

District Court—Judge Hampton.

MONDAY, Jan. 13.—Court met at ten o'clock. Benjamin Rush Bradford vs. James Guthrie and John Guthrie, and same plaintiff vs. William M'Caslin, Wm. Kennedy, James M'Caslin and Andrew Mitchell. These are actions in ejectment from Armstrong county, and are being tried in this court in pursuance of a special act of Assembly. The first is for one hundred and fifty acres, and the latter for one hundred and fifty-four acres of land, both tracts being situated in Cowanshannock township, Armstrong county. The jury is what is termed a "struck" jury, the manner of their selection being as follows: The full panel of forty-eight jurors is submitted to the plaintiff and defendants, and each party has a right to strike off twelve names. From the twenty-four names remaining the Prothonotary selects twelve, and the remaining twelve are held in reserve to supply the places of those selected by the Prothonotary who may be objected off. The jurors thus selected are then sworn, and before the case comes up for trial make a personal examination of the land in question. These cases are of considerable importance, as the result will affect the ownership of a large amount of land in Armstrong county. Messrs. Golden, Purviance, Phelps and Burgwin will appear for the plaintiff, and Messrs. Boggs, Barclay and Lucas for the defendants. On trial.

Following is the trial list for to-day.

162. Hanna, Hart & Co. vs. Pittsburgh, Brownsville & Geneva U. S. Mail Line.
2. W. G. Sheep vs. Wm. Reed.
3. Isaac Redman et ux vs. ex'rs of Nancy Armor.

29. Cyrus Miller vs. Fuller & Eastman.

John Spratt was granted a pedlar's license.

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD LARCENIES—CONVICTION OF DEFENDANTS.

The case of Moritz Kestner and Henry Hess, indictment larceny from the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, was resumed. The defendants were in the employ of the railroad company as "repair men," and it was charged that on the night of the 5th of December last they entered a freight car at the outer depot and took bottles of wine from a box shipped by McCrickart & Co. The defendants were on duty that night, and being suspected, were watched. They were observed opening the car, enter it, take the wine, and proceed to a tool house in the vicinity, where, subsequently, the wine (four bottles) was found. The case was very carefully tried by Jno. H. Hampton, Esq., for the prosecution, and A. M. Brown and F. H. Collier, Esqs., for the defense. Mr. Hampton, in the course of his summing up, said it was not an ordinary case of larceny. It was not the case of a stranger entering a house or store and taking therefrom a property or goods. It was that of employes, while on duty or at work, violating the confidence of their employers. The defendants were repairing cars in the night time, and embraced the opportunity to steal. A portion (two bottles) of the wine was found at Kestner's house, in Lawrenceville, and when arrested Kestner said he had no wine about his premises. For the defense a women named Elizabeth Roch testified that she and Mrs. Kestner had purchased the wine at Mr. Seibert's store, in the city. Mr. Hampton said this woman had been brought forward to "swear the case through" and had committed rank perjury. She had not been corroborated, and the jury would disregard her testimony. Mr. Collier reminded the Court of the fact that Mr. Seibert and his clerk had been regularly subpœnaed, and an attachment issued on Friday last to compel their attendance, the officer reporting that the witnesses had gone to Cleveland. The jury retired about one o'clock, and after a brief absence returned with a verdict of guilty.

Henry Hess (one of the defendants in the above case) was arraigned upon another indictment, charging him with the larceny of a large quantity of dry goods, also in the possession of the Pennsylvania Railroad as carriers. The defendant put in a plea of guilty.

There was still another case against Kestner and Hess, but the District Attorney stated it was not his purpose to try it at present. The defendants were remanded until Saturday next. Hess had been under bail in the sum of $2,500. The defendant Kestner was last week convicted of the larceny of a large quantity of dry goods, clothing, &c.

These men seem to have been doing quite an extensive thieving business, resulting not only in considerable loss, but in great inconvenience to consignors as well as consignees, and also to the railroad company in tracing out the thieves and the stolen property. The cases just tried therefore were of more than ordinary interest to the railroad company and the public generally. For bringing the offenders to justice much credit is due to the officers in the employ of the railroad company, more especially to A. M. Hackett, detective, in which specialty he has few equals. Some persons, from lack of information, have seen proper to characterize as a spirit of "smallness" the earnestness with which the railroad company, through its agents, has pursued offenders, in most instances employes, but it is a sufficient answer to such expression of opinion to state the fact that within a year past the company, it is estimated, has been obliged to pay to shippers about fifty thousand dollars as damages for goods lost, or rather stolen, in transitu. Hence it is that, by the employment of detective officers, and the pursuit to conviction of employes and others engaged in stealing from cars, the railroad company has resolved to render shippers secure in their property, very naturally deeming it wise to incur the necessary expense of such a policy rather than to expend a like or greater amount of money in damages resulting from a less degree of precaution. The system of railroad thieving—for in fact it has become a regular system within a few years—we may state, has rendered necessary such extraordinary precaution. The result of the cases just tried, it is to be hoped will have a wholesome effect.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

Andrew Hilline was arraigned on two charges of assault and battery, committed on Mrs. Campbell and her little son, residing in Allegheny. Jury out.

SHOOTING AFFAIR ON THE ALLEGHENY BRIDGE.

Joseph McMullin and Thomas Hughes were indicted for felonious assault and battery on James Miller. One of the defendants, Hughes, was not present, being unable to attend in consequence of having received an injury while skating Saturday night, and, therefore, McMullin alone was on trial. It was alleged that the prosecutor was attacked on the St. Clair street bridge on the night of the 10th of September last; that McMullin followed him on the bridge as far as the first pier, going towards Allegheny, and there they had a scuffle; that Miller, alarmed for his safety, retreated to the toll house, went inside, and while there McMullin came up and fired two shots from a revolver through the window at Miller, one ball striking the rim of his hat and the other taking effect in his left hand. Hughes and McMullin, it appears, were standing at the toll-house at the time Miller came up and passed; some remark was made by Hughes, (expressing regret at the fact that he was under bail to keep the peace, and therefore could not take satisfaction out of Miller, against whom it appears he held a grudge,) when McMullin followed after Miller, accosted him, and was knocked down, or at least struck by him. Miller seeing some one else approaching as he was standing with McMullin in the cartway of the bridge, thought fit to go back to the toll-house, and he reached there and was but fairly seated when the shooting took place. The case was not concluded at adjournment.

Common Pleas—Judge Stowe.

MONDAY, Jan. 13.—In the case of the People's Line of steamers vs. Andrew Boyd the jury found a verdict for plaintiff for $92 02.

SUITS FOR DAMAGES FOR A POLICE RAID—UNLAWFUL ARREST.

James McQuade vs. Warden Nicholson, Andrew Moon, Peter Dressler, Wm. Gordon and Peter Perchment. Action for damages sustained in consequence of an alleged false arrest. On the night of the 25th of March last a number of policemen, under the direction of Mayor McCarthy, went to search the premises of the plaintiff, who kept a boarding house at Hazlewood Station, on the Pennsylvania Railroad, where it was supposed some goods stolen from Dr. Perchment, one of defendants, were secreted. Mr. Nicholson, one of the defendants, was the Mayor's Clerk, and the remainder were members of the police force. Their search was not successful, but nevertheless they took the plaintiff into custody. During the search resistance was offered, the doors broken, furniture disturbed, pistols drawn and shots fired, but no great injury done to person or property. Dr. Perchment, it was alleged, was present disguised, his face being masked, and was identified only by his voice. Officer Moon, it appeared, did nothing more than defend himself from assault, while it did not appear Gordon was present at all. As to Moon and Gordon, therefore, non suits were taken. The feature in the case was that the defendants were acting without lawful authority. They expected to find some one in the house for whom they had a warrant, but were disappointed. W. C. Moreland, Esq., appeared for defendants, and T. M. Marshall, Esq., for plaintiff. The Court, in charging the jury, said they should not only find damages in such amount as would compensate plaintiff for loss actually sustained by the unlawful attack upon his premises, but in such amount as would tend to prevent a repetition of such outrages. The damages should not be oppressive, however. There was no rule by which juries could be guided in such matters, as they were the judges. No verdict at adjournment.

John Richmond vs. Warden Nicholson, Andrew Moon, Peter Dressler, William Gordon, and Peter Perchment. Similar action. The principal witness in this case was the plaintiff in the previous one. Nicholson, Dressler and Perchment were identified by him as having hold of and tusseling with plaintiff outside of the house, and he saw the plaintiff leaning against the house covered with blood and looking as if he had been severely hurt. He had a severe cut in the back of the head. Witness had been absent with his wife at a friend's, on the evening of the occurrence, was returning home, and had got within two hundred yards of the house when he heard the noise. He met a man whom he (witness) told he was proprietor of the house; asked what was wrong, and said he would make everything right. The man told him to stand or he would blow out his brains. Witness encountered another man, who threatened to shoot him if he offered interference. He also saw a man with a handkerchief over his face, (Dr. Perchment) and thinking they were a "parcel of robbers," he went to the watchman at a brick yard near by to get a pistol, but did not get one, and returning found Richmond in the hands of three persons outside the house. Mr. Hide, a boarder in the house, testified to the nature of the assault and to the firing of a pistol by one of the defendants. The case was not concluded at adjournment.

Following is the trial list for to-day:

25. Eaton, Macrum & Co. vs. James A Gibson.
27. Oxenhart and wife vs. Lucas.
28. Oakland Passenger Railway vs. Lucas.

Injured by a Hose Carriage—Monday morning the Vigilant hose carriage while proceeding out Penn street, in answer to the alarm of fire, collided with the Independence carriage, unavoidably it seems, on the part of the drivers, by which John Hanlon, driver of the latter, was seriously injured, by being thrown from his seat. He was picked up insensible, but soon recovered sufficiently to allow of his removal to his home. Two wheels of the Independence carriage were torn off.

Committed for a Hearing.—Sarah Joice made information before Alderman Thomas, charging Peter Fay with assault. It is alleged by the prosecutrix that the defendant used improper language towards her and threatened to strike her with a stick. He was committed to jail for a hearing to-day.

Committed.—J. Y. Little, whose arrest we noticed a few days since, on a charge of larceny by bailee, made before Alderman McMasters by Will. T. Wiley, jeweler on Wylie street, had a hearing yesterday, which resulted in his being committed to jail, in default of $1,000 bail for his appearance at Court.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
MONDAY, December 13, 1868.

Gold is still advancing, and the desire to hold for higher rates is contagious. There would be nothing more desirable to speculators than a general rush for gold by the public in order to get rid of their stock at an advance. The advance, however, was too rapid to be permanent, and lower rates may be looked for. Money being very abundant and government securities the best convertible investment, a marked advance was established, and prices may be carried much higher.

Stocks are higher and firm, and all the leading Railroads are firm. There was a pause, however, this afternoon, and parties who have bought cheap have been realizing. Before the end of this month, however a reaction is confidently looked for, and whosoever is caught at present buying is likely to suffer severely. The Mining shares are firm, but did not advance to-day.

—There has been a decidedly better feeling in business circles for a week past. Money is abundant, and the increased demand for it is met more freely than at any time during the last month. There is more disposition in all kinds of business to trade. Even dry goods, which have ruled so exceedingly dull for the last half year, have quickened considerably since the advent of the New Year. The settling up of the transactions of 1867, taking account of stock, collecting bills, and so forth, have been gone through with, and show a less disastrous state of affairs than was previously feared. The jobbers the past year, as a general thing, have done a saving business, while goods have been on a sliding scale downwards. By their prudence in not keeping large stocks they have been less liable to depreciations, which would have affected their profits, and as it was well known that foreign goods could not be bought profitably abroad, they have avoided the losses which have been made in some other markets, by supplying themselves on this side of the water. The aggregate amount of sales has been large. A well-informed merchant informs us that he thinks that there have been more yards of goods sold in the three cities of New York, Boston and Philadelphia the past year than during the same period since the war. The grant of only thirty days' credit has done away with the necessity which existed under the old system of selling goods on eight and twelve months' time, for jobbers to incur heavy obligations and owe large amounts. And it is seldom that this class of trade give notes or ask for bank accommodations. The market for brown cottons is firm, and in some instances of standard brands an advance in prices is quoted. The first sure sign of a more prosperous trade, is when the shopkeepers tell their customers "muslins are 1 or 2 cents per yard higher this week than they were last;" "the stock on hand is short;" and, "we shall open next week at a further advance." Nothing so stimulates buyers to make them prompt purchasers as the desire to buy cheaper than their neighbor, and a fear of being compelled to pay dearer. We hope there has been a turn in business for the better, and that it may at least last long enough to give employment through the winter to the large amount of unemployed labor in almost all the mechanical and manufacturing pursuits. Congress has passed the bill stopping any further contraction of the currency for the present. This will have the effect of assuring those who feared the Secretary of the Treasury would contract so rapidly as to appreciate the value of the currency, though there is no evidence extant that he intended to do any such thing. Still the passage of the bill is of an assuring character, and it is sincerely hoped that the good hoped for from it may be realized. As one who wishes and hopes the earliest possible resumption of specie payments, we have no idea that this desirable end can be reached without a further reduction of the currency. It may be a relief in some quarters to hold up this policy temporarily, but the only way that we can see to make our paper currency readily convertible into coin, is to bring the respective amounts of coin and paper more nearly together—to increase to the former and lessen the latter. The better feeling is manifest in general trade as well as in stocks. There is more confidence, the first fruits of which is a readier disposition to give credit and at lower rates of interest. Should not this more cheerful tone stop before it reaches the great producers, we may hope to see the next season open with a revival of trade in coal, in iron, in glass, and in the various manufactures of cotton and wool. With a united effort to keep all employed, the rigors of a dull winter may be shorn of half its terrors.—Phila. Ledger.

—The Boston Post, of Saturday, reports money matters in that city as follows: The money market seems to be abundantly supplied with funds, and currency is circulating very freely. Some of the national banks, which are depositories for Government balances, have been drawn upon within a few days by the U. S. Treasurer, but the Government is steadily paying out gold and currency interest, from the custom house, so that the financial equilibrium is not seriously disturbed. Many of the banks, as well as individual capitalists, are selling the specie which have been received for interest on Five Twenties, &c., the city showing but little faith in any material advance in the gold premium—but on the contrary, being rather doubtful whether it will remain as high as at present. There appears to be a better demand for money than existed one week preceding "quarter day," and quite a number of the leading institutions have no trouble in filling their discount lines with very good business paper at full rates of interest. The best Boston names are taken mostly at 7 @7¼ per cent. on 3@4 months paper, and yet there have been transactions to-day at 6 and at 8 per cent. These variations will occur—but the party who pays 8 cts rely upon it, that in the case of the 6 per cent. customer there is some little "circumstances" which effects the low rate at which he is accommodated. Call loans on Goverment collaterals are placed all the way from 5 to 6½ per cent.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

CRUDE—The market presents no new features worthy of special notice. There is still some considerable inquiry both for present and future delivery, but buyers and sellers are apart, and, as a consequence, we have no sales to record. Spot oil is held firmly at 7c, while for March and April, seller's option, there are buyers at 7½ to 7¾c, and sellers at 8c. For all the year, buyer's option, there are offers to sell at 12c, but, as yet, no buyers. As noted last week, there is a decidedly firmer feeling, and while, as yet, there is no advance in prices, the impression is gaining strength that the bottom has been reached, and this, independent of everything else, has a tendency to stiffen the market—makes sellers more independent and buyers more solicitious. Another thing that tends to keep up prices is the fact that navigation is suspended, and besides, there is an abundance of empty tankage at the wells.

REFINED—There was not a single transaction in bonded oil to-day, at least there were none reported, and this may be attributed to the fact that our refiners refuse to enter into new contracts at present prices. There is, as there was last week, considerable inquiry, both for present and future delivery, but as the prices offered are not big enough to be regarded as an inducement for the risk that has to be carried by the refiner, and therefore, transactions for the present, at least, are out of the question. We hear of offers to buy at 23c for spot; 23½c for February, and 24c for March; also, of an offer to take a "call" for June, at 24c, and $1 per bbl. The fact of the matter is, our refiners as a general thing, are not in condition to do a legitimate business, and as for speculating, they prefer to leave that to those whose tastes are inclined that way. The shipments east continue insignificant, and are likely to continue so for some time to come, as the stock of refined oil in this market is nearly exhausted; and, besides, the great proportion of our refineries are stopped.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

The general markets continue quiet and neglected, and devoid of any new characteristics worthy of special notice. For some few articles there is a fair demand, and that, too, at slightly improved prices, but as a general thing, everything is dull, and so far as we can discern, there is but little prospect of any immediate improvement.

GRAIN—Winter Wheat is in good demand and little in market; we continue to quote at $2,55 for Red, and $2,65 for White. Oats a little firmer, in consequence of a falling off in the receipts; small sales at 67@68c. New Corn is selling on wharf at 90@95c for Ear, and 97c@$1 for Shelled. Barley is scarce and wanted but unchanged at $1,65@1,75 for Spring and Fall. Rye is still quoted at $1,40@1,45.

FLOUR—Is firm with a fair local demand, though prices are unchanged. We continue to quote at $11@11,50 for Spring; $12@12,50 for Winter, and $14,50@15,50 for fancy brands. Rye Flour, $8,50. Buckwheat Flour, under the influence of liberal arrivals, is dull and lower, and we now quote at $4½ to $5 per cwt.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is quiet but steady, with regular jobbing sales at 11c@11½c for Shoulders; 13@13½c for Ribbed Sides; and 16½@17c for Sugar Cured Hams. Lard may be quoted at 13@13½c, in tierces and barrels, and 13½@14c, in kegs. Mess Pork is nominal at $21 for old, and $22 for new.

BUTTER—Is in better demand and a shade firmer but unchanged; prime to choice Roll cannot fairly be quoted above 35@40c.

EGGS—Fresh packed, of which there are but few, if any, in market, would probably command 40@42c.

APPLES—There is a continued fair demand and the market is steady with regular sales at $3@4,50 per bbl.

DRIED FRUIT—The market is completely glutted, and the demand is light, but prices are unchanged; small sales at 7@8c for Apples, and 10@12½c for Peaches.

SEEDS—Flaxseed is in good demand and tending upward; we continue to quote at $2,30@2,35. No movement, as yet, in Clover or Timothy Seeds.

POTATOES—Quiet but unchanged; we continue to quote at $1@1,10 per bushel, and $3 25@3,50 per bbl, as to quality.

HAY—Is selling from country wagons at $18@22, and baled may be quoted at $15@20, on wharf and track.

HOMINY—Is quiet and unchanged at $7 per bbl, to the trade, and $7,50, in a small way.

CRANBERRIES—Are selling at from $13@15 per bbl, as to quality.

BEANS—Dull but unchanged; small sales at $3@3,25.

ALLEGHENY CATTLE MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,

There was only a moderate supply of cattle on sale to-day and with a good retail demand and some inquiry for shipments to New York, the market was a pretty stiff one, and prices were fully sustained. The change in the weather, we presume, caused butchers to take hold with more freedom, as they generally have better markets for fresh meat when the weather is settled and cold. Some half a dozen car loads were taken by shippers, mainly good cattle, and between eastern buyers and the butchers all the best cattle on sale were eagerly picked up, and that, too, at pretty steep prices, ranging from 7½ to 8¾ cents. It is thought that the present extreme prices will have a tendency to draw in pretty large arrivals within the next few weeks, and in that event, it is possible that a reaction might take place, and lower prices follow. Compared with last week, prices, if anything, are a shade higher, especially for good cattle, and even the commoner grades sold more readily, and in many cases, at an improvement. The following is a pretty full report of all the sales:

Peter Hartman reports having 40 head of Green Co (Penna.) cattle; sold all but about 18 head at 4½ to 7½c—would probably close out the balance before the market closed.

L. Rothchilds reports having sold 32 head Chicago cattle at 5¼ to 7.

Kraus & Haas wholesaled and retailed together 75 head Ohio cattle at 5 to 8¾.

Hazlewood & Blackstock sold 18 head Indiana cattle at 6 to 7¼; 18 head, on commission, for McCormick, at 4 to 6¼, and 14 head Washington county cattle, for another party, at 5¼ to 7½.

Greenwald & Kahn retailed 52 head at 6 to 8¼; sold 8 head of prime cattle to Ruevan, (an Altoona butcher) at 8¼, and shipped 60, same kind to New York.

Marks & Trautman retailed 28 head Chicago cattle at 6¼ to 8¼; 40 head Ohio cattle at 6¼ to 8¼, and 18 head of Belmont county, Ohio "scalawags" at 5.

Jas. McAllister sold 21 head for Drake at 5 to 6¼, and 7 on his account at 6 to 7½.

Glass, Lafferty & Co—one of the most energetic and fair dealing firms in the business—report having sold 80 head of commission cattle at 3½ to 6½.

Rodgers & Taylor—another excellent firm—sold 18 head for Bickerhoff at 5 to 7; 19 head for Guy at 5 to 6¼; 18 for McHugh at 4 to 5, and 40 for Bowen at 5, and 15 for Depiane at $25 to $40 per head.

Nicholas Carr sold 40 head, on commission, for Morgan & Co, at 5¼ to 7.

Dolan wholesaled 40 head of prime Chicago cattle to R. C. Crum for Pidcock & Co. at 7,30 to 8,10.

Myers & Needy sold 3 car loads of Ohio cattle at 5¼ to 8¼; also, one prime Southern Ohio steer to Greenwald & Kahn, averaging 190, at 9¼.

Lenz sold 12 head of common Butler county stock at 5¼.

SHEEP AND LAMBS.

There was again a very light supply of sheep on sale this week, with an average demand and diminished offerings, the market was very stiff, and prices have still further advanced. Prime fat mutton sheep may be quoted at 5½ to 6c gross, while common to medium sold at from 3½ to 4¼. We look for a big supply next week, as there are plenty of sheep in the country, and the present extreme prices will be a big inducement to farmers and dealers to hurry them forward.

Wm. Garwin reports having sold 67 head at $2.50 to $5,00 per head.

Stakely & Bro. retailed 53 head at $2,50 to $5,00 per head.

Walters wholesaled 21 head to Patterson at 5 cents.

Linz sold 12 head of prime Butler Co. Sheep at $5,50 per head.

HOGS.

The market for this class of stock is firm with a good retail demand, and, compared with last week, prices have still further advanced. We now quote at 7@7½c for fair to medium, and 8@8¼c, for good to prime heavy averages

Emerick & Co. report having sold about 400 head during the past week at 7@8¼c.

Rothchilds & Beers sold during the same about 300 head at 7@8¾.

Stakely & Bro. sold 13 head at 7¼.

Myers & Needy sold 17 head at 7¾.

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede steadily at this point, the Monongahela pier marks last evening only indicating three feet ten inches. The weather last night was clear and cold, and fears are entertained that navigation on the Ohio will be suspended wholly unless the weather changes very suddenly.

There has been no arrivals since our last report, and the J. N. McCullough, for Parkersburg, was the only departure. There are several boats due, among others, the Glendale and Importer, from St. Louis.

By a private telegram, we learn, that the Julia No. 2 is frozen up at Zanesville.

The Great Republic discharged some three hundred tons of groceries at Zanesville. This fine steamer leaves Cincinnati to-day for New Orleans. She would, no doubt, have prolonged her stay, had it not been that she might have difficulty in getting over the falls.

The Kate Robinson, Capt. Robt. Robinson, is filling up rapidly for Cincinnati and Louisville, and will be the first boats out for those points.

The Messenger is filling up slowly for St. Louis, as is also the Delaware, for Nashville, and the Leonidas, for New Orleans. These are all good boats.

We heard a rumor yesterday (says the Louisville Democrat, of the 11th,) that a considerable amount of money was being raised to bring suit against the bridge company, and to enjoin them from proceeding further with the work.

We learn from an Evansville dispatch to the Cincinnati Commercial that the Ollie Sullivan struck a snag in Wabash river, above New Harmony, knocking a hull in her hull on Monday. She returned to Evansville to repair. The J. P. Webb struck the rocks on the Chain in Wabash river, knocking her side out. She also returned to Evansville for repairs. Coming up she ran into the wheel of the Linton, breaking it badly.

PACKET LINE TO BE SOLD.—The St. Louis Republican states that the property of the defunct Illinois River Packet Company, to be sold, consists of the steamer Illinois, Schuyler, City of Pekin, Lacon, Beardstown and Sam Gaty; also nine barges and a two third interest in the wharfboat used by the Illinois River Company and Naples packets. The sale takes place Thursday, January 31. Terms—One-half cash, balance on four months' credit.

The Louisville Courier says: The Havana had to patch her boilers at Evansville the last trip, and we learn that the Mississippi and the Lady Gay, New Orleans and St. Louis packets, are mulcted every trip they make in above $500 for expenses in patching and mending boilers. The Mississippi, while at this port the other day, after patching awile, concluded to take a few extra sheets along to use in New Orleans. The Lady Gay, we are informed, since she came out, has had to pay upwards of $1 000 in repairs to boilers. That sum, if appropriated in the right place and of the right material, would come very near making a battery of good boilers, that would outlive the boat.
